

CORPORATE SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY POLICY

SPDP PARTNERS combines its strategy of Corporate Social Responsibility and its Business Strategy in order to integrate its social and environmental objectives into its business objectives thereby ensuring that its primary responsibility is to be profitable and financially sustainable, while being aware that in addition to the responsibilities and commitments acquired vis-à-vis its shareholders and the legal obligations, it is also responsible for the impact that its activity has on its different stakeholders. This enables the organization to comply with the different commitments acquired while being financially viable, socially beneficial and respectful of the environment.

With this in mind, our CSR strategy is approached sensibly while being aware of the need for material and human resources to embark on our quest, starting from the core idea that “business success cannot be achieved without creating a sustainable environment that emanates from an ethical, responsible and excellent management of the corporate activity”.

In consonance with the above, we now present the five essential commitments of the Corporate Social Responsibility of SPDP PARTNERS.:

Commitment to Responsibility

This principle embraces all the company’s relations with its stakeholders. It includes the preparation of projects and provision of services in a responsible manner, a polite relationship with personnel, the creation and maintenance of employment, the protection of the environment and efficient business management.

Commitment to respect of human rights

SPDP respects the Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms included in the Universal Declaration of Human Rights on an ongoing basis and in all the projects that it undertakes.

Commitment to respect for the law

The corporate and professional activities of SPDP are pursued under strict compliance with the laws in force at any time wherever they are pursued.

Commitment to promotion of ethics and integrity

At the moment of joining SPDP, all the personnel acquire a commitment to act in an upright, honest and transparent manner, while avoiding all kinds of corruption and respecting the particular circumstances and needs of all those involved in the pursuit of the corporate activity.

This commitment applies to the entire organization, from the management team all the way to the most operational level of said organization, and it is reflected in the company’s code of conduct.

Commitment to communication with its stakeholders

SPDP is aware that one of the keys to the company’s CSR is dialogue with its stakeholders, namely, with the persons or organizations that are most directly affected by the company’s activity and who may, with their decisions, markedly influence the business.

Our stakeholders comprise:

Firstly our employees, including interns and the personnel representatives, all of whom are the driving force of the business so their expectations, needs, criticism and recommendations must be heard.

Secondly our clients, as communication with them is essential to find out their expectations, not only with respect to the service provided but also regarding CSR.

It is important to point to the relevance of the shareholders and the Board of Directors of SPDP in taking decisions relating to the company's CSR.

In relation to compliance with the legal framework applicable to the company's activity, it is important to keep up good communication with the administration and its regulating bodies, such as provincial, municipal and other local government institutions, autonomous communities and central government; trade unions; business associations; employers, and technical associations.

In relation to suppliers, contractors, sub-contractors, including the occupational risk prevention service contracted externally, we point to the importance of transmitting the values in regard to CSR of SPDP to these stakeholders in order to reach common objectives.

Lastly, we would mention the property owners' association, the NGOs with which SPDP cooperates, universities with which it has signed collaboration agreements, the companies with which it works, banks, visitors to our offices and society in general as well as any other stakeholder that has expectations of the company, both in its ethical attitude and its conduct with persons as well as its interaction with the environment. The appropriate channels of communication will be established with all these stakeholders to be able to meet their needs and expectations.
